

Tune: Bad Moon Rising
Creedence Clearwater Revival
Written by John C Fogerty Released 1969
Bad marks arising Words Keith Shine December 2014

I see bad marks arising
I see questions you'll avoid
I see equations (that) need deriving
I feel my red pen getting annoyed

Chorus's repeated twice unlike original

Don't use Fahrenheit
Your answer won't be right
Now's a good time to revise

Be it geopotential height
Or ultraviolet light
It's about time you revised

Hope you can get your head together
There's fronts you'll have to classify
It won't be just about the weather
You'll need that stuff on entrop-i

Don't go out tonight
You won't know what to write
It's about time you revised

Have you been up all night?
You look a sorry sight
The exam room's on the right

Instrumental break

I can't see where your answer's going
I can't see what you're trying to prove
I can't see what your equat'ns showing
Or why those terms have been removed

In Sole or German Bight
Your forecast won't be right
It's a bit late to revise

Wind won't turn to the right
If the sign's not right
It's a bit late to revise

It's a good time to revise

It's about time you revised
